Harvard Getting Used to the Air Currents at Princeton Field.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 4.-Princeton's football team practically finished its preparation for the Harvard game yesterday afternoon. Before a cheering ection of 1300 undergraduates, the Section Tigers indulged in a short scrimmage, scoring one touchdown against the scrubs, and then with Lon Lourie at the helm, went through a long lard signal drill. The Harvard eleven planned to practice in the Palmer stadium here this afternoon to get acquainted with the wind current. Princeton was to drill behind closed

In Pimples On Face. Itched and Burned, Face Disfigured.

"Eczema started in pimples on my face. The pimples would break, and they would itch and burn so that I scratched. I had very little sleep and my face was terribly disfigured. My head was also all cruptions and I couldn't comb my hair.

"The eczema lasted about four months when I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It began to stop the itching and burning so I purchased a cake of Soap and a box of Ointment and in three weeks the eczema was healed." of mortals in sickness and heatth have been met and no where in the world's history has any similar religious movement met with such remarkable progress, except the unparalleled progress of Christianity over the ancient world in the first century after the ascent sion.

Here it may be asked, will Christian Science and that tireless scarch of or a spiritual cause of the street of the s

there would be two powers arrayed against each other, the powers of good and evil with the result—a universe of conflicting forces, of chaos and disorder., Christian Science accepts and teachers these these treatments of the search of the fearless prophet.

these fundamentals lies the solution of all human problems. Thus if a Chrisif we assume that God sent these evils. all buman problems. Thus if a Christian Scientist faces sickness, he relies they are eternal, they are inevitable, on the omnipotence of God to heal it; they are unescapable. Whereas, on the if he faces a condition where ignorance prevails, he turns to God and relies on the omniscience—the infinite all-knowledge of God—to supply him the wisdom and light to meet the situation. or other material means and turn to Corporeal Sense Evidence Misleading. God only as a last resort when hope of relief from other sources has utter-ly vanished. And so likewise, the ma-perienced in the past is that they have not seen clearly the difference between relying on Spirit and on human agen cies. The adherents of scholastic the ology and the materially minded have failed to grasp the real meaning of the First Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." They have not made a clear distinction be-tween matter and Spirit. Christian Science draws a clear and unmistakable line of demarcation between the eternal things of Spirit and the false evidences of the physical senses, "God is Spirit," as Jesus declared, and man and the universe are mental and spiritual. But the five corporeal senses de not see spiritual things; to them, Spir-it and spiritual things do not exist; they cognize the opposite of spirit-uality, the false belief of a matter world and a matter creation. Seeing only material things, the objectifica tion of his own corporeal senses, the materially minded man relies on these instead of turning his gaze Spiritward and depending wholly on God. A man has made a great discovery when he learns to rely on spiritual sense instead of physical. Through spiritual sense, man learns that he is immortal and perfect. Spiritual sense gives man a correct view of the universe and of God. The physical senses give him a distorted view of all things. They tell him that man is mortal, physical, subject to sin, disease and death. This view is temporary and must yield to the eternal fact that God, man and the real universe are imperishable. Christian Science Primitive Christianity.

By teaching reliance on the omnipotent power and goodness of God, Christian Science has reinstated primi-tive Christianity. The great Bible tive Christianity. The great Bible characters from Genesis to Revelation did not rely on drugs, human strength, human will, nor human intellect to guide or save them. Through spiritual understanding, they rose superior to the testimony of the physical senses and overcame them. Time and time again incidents are recorded in the Bible where the spiritually minded met and mastered conditions which the physical senses said could not be overcome. Storms, droughts, famine, assaults of enemies, hate, malice, sin, disease and death, all the myriad man ifestations of evil were met and mas tered by those great spiritual thinkers those patriarchs, propheta, seers, dis-ciples, apostles and early Christians. It is at once evident that when a man sees spiritually he sees differently thinks differently and acts differently than when he accepted physical sense evidence. A study of the Bible shows that under given conditions the spir-itually minded acted differently from those who accepted corporeal sense evi

For instance, note the incidents of the attempted capture of the prophet Elisha by the Syrian army as it is re-corded in the sixth chapter of II Kings, The Syrian army had encompassed the city by night. The next morning the servant of the man of God looked out from the walls of the city and saw the great host that encompeity. The servent anorpted the eviand, as the psychologists say, Religious Teachings.

Let it not be assumed that Christian eience has nothing in common with the universe; the one God, the great I AM would no longer be supreme, and the supreme and through the centuries. Her vision had pierced the veil of materialism and she saw that man is deathless. Her stead-fast reliance on God, despite the opis self-evident that disease, sin and evils are discordant, inharmonious, once is at hand to destroy evil.

On the other hand, the adherents of current religious teachings do not as a current religious teachings do not as a circular religious teachings and the self-destructive can have current religious teachings do not as a circular religious teaching rule rely wholly upon the all-power, all-tive force is inconceivable. Only the presence and all-knowledge of God. If harmonious and harmless can have Christian Scientists, therefore, do not accept the conclusions of the physi-cal senses as they formerly did. They ly vanished. And so likewise, the materially minded are prone to rely on human means for help when disaster appears instead of turning unreserved by to God. They rely on others, trust to human will and human ingenuity to aid them, although experience has proved time and again that these material agencies afford no sure and genuine relief.

Reliance on God Taught in the Bible.

The teachings of the Bible are perfectly clear on this point. Over and once again the Scriptures call men to rely wholly on God for every need. "Put not your trust in princes;"

"Woe to them that go down to Egypt for help;" "seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness" are some of the admonitions of the Bible. The great difficulty mortals have experienced in the past is that they have Of many things mortals are uncertain, but of one thing they believe that they are certain, namely that death is unescapable. How differently Christian Scientists view these things. They know that God never created disease, and that a right understanding of Him completely destroys disease. They see that all there is of disease is fear and
